Integrity Development is a wonderful, caring company to do business with. We had a big property damage (fire) issue, and the job performed was quick and easygoing. The personal service is to be highly appreciated. Thank you all for your help with our issues.

Integrity Construction & Development provided prompt & professional assistance, making urgent repairs and restoring our home after storm damage. Significant damage had occurred during our vacation, and after a brief delay to arrange repairs, we were able to continue. The repairs were made in our absence. We later saw the work and feel fortunate to have chosen Integrity. Everything is excellent.

It took them too long to complete the job, probably because I wasn't there; the job could have been done in a more timely fashion.

Myles, Matt and the staff at Integrity made the experience of re-building my home less complicated by keeping me constantly updated on the who, what where and when of the job components and of the work crews schedule. They made it easy for our family work around all of the work being done.

We are so happy with the quality of work and excellent customer service my all of the Integrity employees. We highly recommend Integrity!

I really appreciated their time, patience, and expertise in all aspects. I am so happy that I was able to have the work done by them.

If the need arises, I wouldn't work with any other construction company than Integrity Construction & Development. They are qualified, reliable & do excellent work.

My claim was very difficult to process with insurance and I am deeply grateful for all of their patients, help, and perseverance while the insurance company was settling its paperwork. There were no quality issues and everything is still performing perfectly. We have not had any issues and I would definitely use Integrity again. I would like to recognize Erin and Matt. They went above the call of duty on many occasions to help us with the entire situation.

From the initial consultation to the finished product, the team at Integrity was excellent. They were professional, consistently on time, and did an incredible job. They even entertained my young boys one morning showing them what they were working on and spent a few minutes talking to them - it made their day! We couldn't be happier with the final product.

Integrity Construction was very professional and dependable in reconstructing my Master Bathroom. They were thorough and explained exactly what needed to be done throughout the project. They were on time and had everything they needed to work with when they arrived. They were organized and did a great job cleaning up after every visit. They were polite and friendly. It was a lengthy job but the end result was worth it.
