Can't say enough about Project Manager Lou. He was excellent and kept the project moving along as smoothly as possible. We are very pleased with the end result of our remodel.

They provided quality work, but they were difficult to work with.

The staff is professional, pleasant, and responsive to work with. We built the house while living in another stateand the staff understood our situation and worked with us on this issue.

Perrino Builders takes care of and treats their customers as they would their own family. They listen to your needs, and they have great interior designers. Pat, the owner, is wonderful as far as listening to your wants and needs, and making everything work within the budget. He is honest, and it was a pleasure working with him and the company.

We had a great experience overall. They really came through on everything they said they would. Their people are people we really trust with any project and I would highly recommend them to anyone looking to remodel.

They are amazing. While I am hoping this will be a near forever home, I would definitely build with them again.

Typically people think that builders and professionals are an oxymoron but I didn't find that with Perrino Builders. They are very professional and high integrity company to work with.
