The one thing that is wonderful is that they show up when they say they're going to, whether it's the salesperson or the installers.

Getting the permit was great! Other companies were going to take 8 weeks to get a permit, and this wasn't the case with White Aluminum.

They have done work on all five of our homes. They had the contract with the builder and we have been using them ever since.

If we ever needed any work done on our patio, we would call White Aluminum. Honestly, the entire experience with White Aluminum was more than satisfactory. I can't think of any time where we had to chase them down or anything. They were very professional about it. It took a while to get the ball rolling but that really wasn't their fault since they had to get the permits. It went very smoothly. We will use White Aluminum again.

I went through the Yellow Pages but I had some experience with White Aluminum more than 30 years ago where they built a patio for me and did a good job. When I found the name in the Yellow Pages, I knew they had been around for a long time and that they were capable of doing the work.

Our salesman knew what he was talking about and gave us a fair price. The windows came in a timely manner, and the installer cleaned up after himself and did a great job. I think White Aluminum is doing it right!
