Dan's understanding and control of the budget literally made the difference between building and not building a home. He found ways to meet both needs and desires and helped me focus on the most important items. I really appreciated his patience and his time in educating me about the building process. Todd has his eye on every detail of the house. No one answers calls faster. He knows exactly who is working on what project and what they need to do. He stays four steps ahead of everyone else. Both of these men are absolutely honest and straightforward. I had complete confidence in working with them.

Dan and Todd are fantastic to work with. They are not only knowledgeable about construction and costs, but they have an eye for design. They know what will work and they made great suggestions at every point in the process. They are also practical -- they helped me stay on budget and make good choices with my money. There are a million ways you can spend money building a home. They really helped me understand how to stretch the dollars.

I absolutely love my home. I have zero regrets about building. I am a HUGE fan of Cypress Hill. The only details I would have changed would be to run an outlet or two in the basement (which is unfinished). The home is truly perfection.

Over all, we are very pleased with our choice of Cypress Hill to build our home. I would and have strongly recommended them to others considering a project of this nature.
