They didn't fall short at all, as a matter of fact they come out very quickly when I call, even at short notice.

I am always most satisfied with their customer service. The work is great but when I call they always get right back to me and when they come on site, if they say 8:30 they are here at 8:15 waiting for you to open the door. That does not happen in this industry.

Daigle is a very high quality, customer focused business, and I would not use anyone else, as a result of the service I have received. They are truly professionals.
