We approached this company while looking for Hardie Siding. We weren't expecting it to be inexpensive, but the outside of our house looked dreary & kind of like it was randomly cobbled together (because it really was- but we had talked about getting new siding for ten years or more!), and M&M Siding fixed it. Their estimate was in the midrange, comparable to other companies, so we decided to go with them, and we couldn't be happier. Crystal Cantu was the best rep EVER & the workers were all very nice too. My only complaint is- why didn't we do it sooner?!

I just loved everything about them. They were so professional. They did the work in a timely fashion when they said they would do it, which can be an issue sometimes. It is the best experience I have ever had with a company.

It was nice that the owner called to thank me for my business. That is, good customer service, and good customer service does go a long way. There was a final walkthrough to make sure it was done to my satisfaction, but I did forget to point out an issue that happened when they were banging on the wall. In my daughter's room, a picture fell when they were banging, and when the picture fell, it broke a plug that was going into the wall. I did contact the salesperson and explained the situation. We set up a Wednesday for him to come look at it, but the Monday before the appointment, he asked if he could stop by since he was in the area. I could not meet him since I was out of town, and I had planned on us meeting on Wednesday of that week. He never reached back out to me or came on the original day we had planned for him too. It did leave a bad taste in my mouth for the salesperson. He did mention that I did need a new roof, but I am not sure if I will use them since he did not follow up with me. The work was done professionally, and it was worth it for me to pay more for the quality I received. I did have good interactions with them when they were doing my work.

The job included replacing my old, cracked redwood siding with Hardie siding. The siding was cracked due to the Hurricane Laura that came through Lake Charles on 8/27/2020. I contacted M&M Roofing and Siding & Windows in April of 2021. Mr. Greg Vincent came to my house and measured dimensions of my house for replacing the siding. He emailed me a detailed estimate on April 15, 2021. After 3 or 4 visits, a revised estimate was completed the including 3 new windows, closing gable vents with siding, installing house wrap, complete replacement of siding, power wash house siding prior to painting with two coats. The project was delayed to Nov 1, 2021 because the windows were special ordered and not completed until October. The siding was removed and replaced in three days. The painting was completed on the fourth day. The job worked out fast and the contractor worked professionally. I would add that most contractors due not meet my approval because they complete the work sloppy, and the craftsmanship is poor. To my surprise the details of the job came out with my complete approval.

An awesome company! I do not like dealing with contractors because the communicate poorly, cut corners and milk you on up-charges. Not this company. Their estimate was the most competitive, they were always punctual, finished the project on time, responded to all my communications in a timely manner. I even had a small issue after the work was completed and they returned to fix it in a timely manner. I highly recommend this company for your needs. Juan was an awesome project manager. Thanks for an awesome job with excellent craftsmanship and quality materials.

I would give M&M Home Remodeling Services 5-stars due to the service provided by Joe Ausmus. He provided peace of mind throughout the process. I appreciated the owner's attentiveness. He reached out after the work was completed. He called me personally to see how the service had gone. That is not common in this day, and age. The personal touch by the team was very refreshing. The quality of the work preformed was very good. Any issues or concerns my parents had Joe adequately addressed, checked to see if it had merit, and then adjusted from there. We are very happy with the services preformed, which were a full siding replacement, with soffit, and fascia. It was a high level of work needing to be done. It was done adequately.

The crew overall did a great job and every thing looks great from a distance. There were touch up items discussed that were never completed after a couple phone calls and a text with the manager when he asked if everything went well. AT&T had to come out twice to fixed the fiber cable that was damaged while work was being done even though it was stressed to be careful around it since my only option to work was from home so internet was a necessity. M&M did pay the fees AT&T charged me for two trips so that was good. The project manager was great and easy to talk to otherwise.
