I can not believe the things that disappeared after mark 1 was at my home. When I was able to return home after a house fire(6 months later) I walk in my house no living room lights.one outlet worked ,dining room the chadaleer was hanging from the ceiling by its wires ,no outlets working. In the kitchen stove missing .If this was not enough there is even much more, they through my console for my 1966 GT Fairlane along with its factory valve train out along with an Elgin boat motor the list continues,but telling you about this is making me more angry so I will stop now. Do NOT EVER consider to let mark -1 into your home. They even had my electric really screwed up just to mention another lie they told me !!!

Our home sustained heavy water damage on 3 floors due to a contractors error. Mark 1 responded the same day and began to remove all of the wet rugs and the damaged contents . They covered everything and dried out the entire house. Later they built a temporary plastic room and removed all of the floor tile. While the work on the first floor was going on the basement was being re built and painted. We are pleased by the quality of work performed by Mark 1. We are impressed by the employees and managers of Mark 1. Jeff and Julie Employees were nice and courteous, but did not relay good information to my insurance adjustor there for causing me more problems with my claim due to the fact that the adjustor did not have an accurate layout of the problem area. I would not recommend using this company.

I was unable to get Mark 1 to respond to scheduling questions after they did not meet agreed upon schedules. They were also unresponsive to AllState Insurance who uses them as a "preferred" provider. I have a large family & get that things come up & things happen - all I ask is that you communicate when it does happen & we will adjust accordingly. Not saying anything & then just not showing up when scheduled & not responding to phone calls checking on the status is not acceptable. Unless you truly do not care when the work is finished or being apprised of status along the way, I do not recommend.
