My first experience with a flooded basement. Through my insurance company, they hired St. Louis Cleaning & Restoration. I had several different employee's working to clean up my basement. Every young man was respectful, kind, polite and was looking out for my best interest. Any questions I asked was never a problem for them. Since it was my first claim, I didn't know what to expect, but they assured me they were there to take care of everything and that they did. Very happy with there service.

There were certain things declared as total loss, things that were not in the flood, they were on the counter. Certain things, particularly boxes of canned goods and a box heater that were marked as a total loss. The heater is metal, this is a sewage flood. Things that were metal in boxes were marked. There were two canisters of Co2 that were not returned. They won't respond.

The work was subpar. They didn't do much of anything that was on the estimate. They only worked a few hours multiple days instead of one full work day and the ceiling repair is very visible (very obviously been repaired)

They were incompetent and inconsistent. I wrote everything down. Every day they were here, I wrote down how many people they were, what they did, and what they destroyed. It took them eight hours on three different trips. When they moved the toilet out of their way, they broke the lid. They're supposed to bring me another lid, but I haven't seen them since. They've been paid. They took out the ceramic tile in the basement when my basement flooded. It was loose, so sewer water got underneath there. They tore it all out, so I'm stuck with the glue that's stuck to the floor. They shouldn't have torn it up. There was no supervision. For $17 an hour, they paid these kids to come in here and tear my house up. They tracked dirt up the stairs and all over the floors. They didn't put any plastic up until the end when I told them to do that to keep dust and dirt in the basement from coming upstairs. They're terrible. I wouldn't hire them to clean my doghouse. When they took the Sheetrock off, they destroyed the trim on the doors. They didn't take it off gently. They just pulled it off. Now I have to get new trim, but the insurance isn't going to cover that. I have to buy all new trim. It's just ridiculous what they did. They didn't know what they were doing. They had to come back three different times to get it right. You can see the mold on the backside of the Sheetrock, but they wouldn't take it out.

I would NOT recommend Atlantic Coast Steamatic. We were given the total amount to be billed to the insurance company at the beginning of the process. During the process they consistently added on various amounts to the claim. "Don't worry-the insurance will pay". They were going to charge the insurance company $1000 to move my bedroom furniture because it was "very heavy". I know this wasn't my money but I didn't want the insurance company ripped off. I fired this company and went with a professional and reasonable company.
