Tom, of course! He was awesome. Everybody I met throughout the process was really great but he was my initial point of contact and I don't know everybody else's names.

Tom worked with me and was very candid and honest about the process and contract as well as what work he would recommend me choosing to do and what to pass on. I really appreciated his help and honesty and couldn't have gotten a new roof without him.

Erik Carpenter was extremely helpful in navigating the insurance claim and getting the work completed. He was very open and honest about the process, what we would/could be entitled to, and what the end result would be.

Tom Eames coordinated our project from beginning to end. We can't recommend him too highly, and would happily do another project with him.
