Two splash blocks were placed backwards directing water TOWARD my foundation. Another downspout and block put water out on an area that caused significant pooling at my foundation. Yet another downspout puts out onto a cement walkway. One part of the leaf guard gutter cover doesn't seem to be angled down enough and leaves build up on the edge of the roof. There is a section of fascia they installed that is weeping between the gutter and my wooden eave. This is an issue that someone already claimed to fix but it is still happening. The Leafgaurd system was more than double other estimates I had gotten but I thought the price difference would be reflected in quality and the "maintenance free" features. Not worth it IMHO. One or maybe two small issues after installation might be acceptable but this is too much. I mean, BACKWARDS SPLASH BLOCKS?!?!

I am satisfied with the product with the expectation of the one minor fix they had to do. It has been wonderful.

I have used LeafGuard of North Georgia for two years, having done my home in stages. While doing it in stages has its drawbacks, I'm thrilled with my decision to do so as I did encounter a problem last year and as Georgia experienced monsoon-like conditions for a while. When I noticed the problem, I called LeafGuard of North Georgia and received an instant reply. The technician knew immediately what was happening, how it could be corrected, and, as promised, visited my home the following afternoon and took care of it. . .and, might I add, they did it with a smile. That's when I knew that it was time for me to allow them to complete stage two of the installation. Stage two is now complete and I am pleased.

This is the second house I have had LeafGuard installed on. Yes they are a little expensive, but they are a pleasure to deal with and when you calculate the cost over the lifetime of the house and add in the trouble free maintenance and the guarantee it is an easy decision. I love this product!

The peace of mind that comes with the LeafGuard life time guarantee is worth every penny. Our new installation done this past fall just in time before leaves and a heavy storms descended on Atlanta. The LeafGuard gutter system performed exactly as advertised. I believe the LeafGuard system will add new value to our property beyond what we paid. Kudos, LeafGuard!
