AllenBuilt is a professional yet very personal business. My project manager Graham was extraordinary. No question was too naive, no neighbor's complaint too petty to at least acknowledge, no change requested too much trouble (and often not even charged for) and no problem lacking several clear and reasonable responses, based on cost.

Renovating a home is a bumpy road with many variables -- AllenBuilt helped us navigate through the process in a professional, efficient and productive way. Our project manager, Damon, is excellent at what he does. He was easy to work with, knowledgeable and helpful. We would recommend AllenBuilt.
