Bell consistently provides excellent service. We have used them for many projects, both big and small and they always communicate well, provide good options, and hold themselves to high standards throughout the entire process. We are always happy with the service we receive from Bell. We would, and have, recommend them to anyone looking for a good plumbing company.

I highly recommend Bell to anyone who is replacing an air conditioner and/or furnace! From my first call to set an appointment to Lance's visit to assess our needs to installation, I couldn't have asked for more: installation was completed smoothly, with all "mess" being completely cleaned; Lance and the installation crew were right on scheduled time; all questions regarding the equipment and installation were answered in understandable language.

Bell is a very professional organization. Almost all of my interactions have been good. I had one slightly negative experience, but they offered to make it right. In my opinion, that meant a lot. I do not believe they are the cheapest out there, but I feel more confident in the results and backing of the company than with others. Also, everyone is always so friendly and approachable, which is important when dealing with complex issues.
