GTG Builders is doing a phenomenal job renovating my bathrooms. Andrew and Paul are prompt, professional, and do excellent work. They have walked me through the project step by step and have even helped with design ideas. The house is always left impeccably clean and the guys have been very respectful of the work schedule I requested. Whenever I have questions or concerns, my texts and phone calls are returned almost immediately. My hall bathroom is gorgeous and I can't wait to see the master. Would definitely recommend them!

GTG Builders were excellent to work with throughout the course of our addition/renovation project. They were responsive and solution orientated if we ran into any obstacles. They managed the process efficiently including dealing with the town to have inspections lined up immediately upon completion of certain phases which kept the project on schedule. We work was completed well within the projected time frame and we are thrilled with the quality. My wife and I would absolutely recommend GTG Builders to friends

GTG has been great to work with and have guided us along this process. They helped us resolve issues we had that were outside of their responsibilities and have worked with the town to insure that inspections were timed up to happen quickly as different stages were completed in order to keep the job moving. GTG Builders are responsive to questions/concerns and are very solution oriented. I would absolutely recommend them to others looking to begin a construction/renovation

Andrew, Paul, and Bob are a great team and did a great job on our renovation project, which included a full kitchen renovation, two full baths, and a mud room. They consistently met with me to discuss the project, consider my ideas and bring their own ideas to execute a project that met my needs. The project was completed within the window of time that Andrew had committed to, and the outcome exceeded our expectations. Andrew is very patient, and always follows through. When challenges arose in the project, Andrew communicated to us and always provided solutions. Andrew also went above and beyond expectations as issues arose in our home, even if they were not related to the scope of work. We would recommend Andrew and GTG builders.

GTG Builders is an extremely professional and conscientious outfit. My wife and I contacted them for a complete gut and remodel of an older home we had just purchased. Before they started the job, we discussed design, timeline, money and priorities and we all had a clear picture of how the job would progress before the first payment was requested. The total cost at the end of the job closely resembled the original quoted price and the work was beautiful. We love our house and strongly recommend GTG Builders to anyone looking to build or remodel.

That rare combination of quality workmanship with excellent personal communication and commitment to the job. Brought them back for a second job - and will for the next.
