Hunterdon is a great company! I am very satisfied with how my new roof looks and the quality of the shingle they used. The installers were very quick and extremely clean.

I was most satisfied with their dedication and follow through on our project. The installers arrived as scheduled and they worked until it was completely done. Once they started, they only worked on our home and they didn't finish until they were sure everything was done to the best quality.

Hunterdon ensured that any small, often times overlooked, items/issues were completely resolved before contacting me for final payment. Even after final payment was issued, Hunterdon returned to address a minor issue that had been discovered after final payment was issued. Overall great customer service.

Joe, the on-site project manager. Where there was a choice in how to complete a particular task, he took the time to review the options with me and make sure that I was comfortable with approach selected. I felt that the quality of the work was always his foremost concern.

I was very satisfied with the work they did overall. I like that they showed up when they said they would and continued to work steadily until the job was complete. They kept their promises, and they held to the estimate they gave.
