Overall we are happy with our pool. We were really disappointed with the lack of communication and follow through on issues (some of which are still not fixed).

They were very professional and all the crews that came in were very knowledgeable. They had a gunite crew, the decking crew, the rock crew and the guy that came in to help us set up were all very knowledgeable and professional. They were very easy to work with. We called them several times during the construction and they answered all of our questions.

There was not a lot of follow up after the completion. You don't hear from anyone after it's done.

Initial communication and sales process was flawless; once the job started communication ceased to exist and delays we're a common occurrence. It didn't seem like the process was very organize and change orders we're consistently forgotten about; which in turn cause work to be redone. Over 5 months since the start of the process, we still have pending issues from the construction phase that haven't been taken care of.
