The Teague tech worked diligently until he found the source of the problem, which was not easy. Bryce is a credit to Teague as well as to the young generation of technicians.

There were a few bumps with the first electrician. However once Teague was made aware of the issue, they made it right in every way possible.

I used Teague Electric for an Electrical Inspection on a new home purchase. Electrician did not show up during my window for inspections, hour late. Cost of inspection was high $150 per hour luckily I skipped the small talk with him to avoid going over one hour. After the inspection I was told I would have to pay for a proposal to fix. I just wanted a cost estimate to fix electrical issues. Apparently a cost estimate proposal is an additional upcharge.

Although it was a significant work project, It was a positive experience. The service technician, Greg, was courteous and professional. He worked collaboratively with utilities company representative to ensure the work was done correctly and safely. We appreciated all of his efforts.

We were considering buying an older house and I wanted a detailed electrical inspection and recommendations about needed upgrades from an electrician. Doug came to the house and discussed all of my concerns and questions. We ended up not buying that house because of the valuable information from him. Well worth the price of a service call to get those questions answered.

I hired them to put our electric meter back on the house after a neighbor dropped a tree limb pulling it loose. When I got home the box was still not bolted up solid to the house & I had to call & have them come out again. It still isn't right. Not at all satisfied.
