I thought the company was very professional. They came out right away when I called them. They took care of the permits on time. They finished quickly and it was done well.

I got my money's worth. I might have paid a little more, but got quality and professionalism in return. You get what you pay for.

John Kiernan is a very fair, genuine and honest person. It is tough to find those traits in the construction business. I appreciated working with John.

Out of the many contractors who applied for the work to be completed at St. Joseph's, Kiernan was selected not only due to their past performances, but because of the professionalism of their work.
