I bought my home from Sunwood Development. After a couple of months, the basement wall started leaking. All the rainwater floods my backyard and all around the house and I cannot walk without long boots. Sunwood acknowledges the problems are caused by inadequate drainage at the bottom of the backyard hill which prevents water runoff from being diverted away from the house. I have reported the issues with a number of photos and emails and requested to fix the problem. Sunwood has either ignored or delayed the response to me. Before closing, they said the homeowner will have peace of mind because they offer 2-year warranty. But the time goes by without any repair. I read a similar report at another review site. In winter, they said they would fix the problem while the frozen ground has minimal mess to deal with, but no repair was done. In spring, they said they need to wait until the ground is dry while we have rain almost every week. Likewise, they have done nothing for almost a year. When summer comes, we will have more frequent rain which will cause muddy water on the ground and lots of bugs and mosquitoes around my house. I'm worried about my new house and my health.

We had an idea of what we would like to do with our home but Sunwood turned it into reality. Their design is something that we never would have thought of but functions perfectly for our home and family. The work and finishes are absolutely beautiful and were done in timely fashion! We have children so it was a real concern how we were going to live in a construction zone for 2 months but they made sure they kept the debris and invasiveness to a minimum and our kids safe with a wood barrier between our living and the project. I can't stress enough that you will not be disappointed if you work with them. Bob and Jim are some of the greatest and most professional guys around. If your looking for someone who knows what they are doing and will finish on time if not early hire them! Looking forward to doing projects in the future with them.

Project involved expansion of a bathroom and bedroom . Extremely pleased with their work and service. Project was very organized. Their cleanup at the end of every day was exceptional. You would never know their was a major renovation project going on. Very pleased with the final product.

We LOVE our kitchen renovation!! Not sure if we ever filled this out, but, it's probably more meaningful long after the project is complete, because we are still loving every decision we made, and extremely happy with Sunwood. We've already recommended Sunwood Development to friends. And, we've already had Sunwood back for a second renovation.

If you go with Sunwood Development make sure you get what you're asking for. Double and triple check all options and know that once the project is done you may have to continue fighting with them.

Initially it was hard to get answers, it was a like pulling teeth. They were very helpful in selection of materials, after closing the building of house was very smooth and were very satisfied with the house. Bill M.
